"TOUGH TONY" ANASTASIO, 57, PASSES AWAY

(Tough Tony) Anastasio, 57, dynamic boss of the Brooklyn waterfront who battled other leaders of the Longshoremen's Union as well as dock employers, died Friday in a Brooklyn hospital,

He was international vice-president of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and headed the 15,000-member ILA Local 1814 in Brooklyn.

A family spokesman said death resulted from complications following a heart attack Jan. 2. A colorful figure, Anthony nevertheless often was overshadowed by two of his headline-making brothers: the late Albert and Joseph Anastasio.

Another brother, Salvatore, is a Roman Catholic priest in the

Born in Tropea, Italy, Albert, Joseph and Anthony shipped as deckhands when they were children and jumped ship in the United States separately between 1917 and 1924. They eventually became U.S. citizens.

Anthony had a police record dating back to 1925, with arrests on charges ranging from assault to murder. He was freed of every charge.

Anastasio, a widower, lived in Brooklyn with his daughter and son-in-law, Anthony Scotto, organ-G-burg National Bank 4; Amer- izational director of Local 1814, and three grandchildren.

The POWER of FAITH BY WOODI ISHMAEL

Bishop Herbert Welch in his one hundred and first year has had the privilege and reward few men ever know, of serving his fellowman in many ways, in many places for nearly a century. When asked to give an incident of a power of faith in his life, he said, "Faith is a process rather than an event. It is diffused over a large surface rather than constricted at one point." He has lived that faith. Like John Wesley, Methodist Bishop Welch has made the world his parish. He first served in churches in New York and Connecticut. He then became President of Ohio Wesleyan University in 1905 and for eleven years guided the spiritual and scholastic lives of the students of that school. As bishop, he spent many years in the Orient, serving in Korea, then Japan and China.

He retired three times. First in 1936, but he was called back to fill the vacancy of bishop of the Boston area. In 1939 he retired the second time, but in 1940 he returned to an active life for eight years to serve as chairman of the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief. In 1948 he retired for the third time, but a man who has given God's faith through himself to so many for so long is not apt to stop giving.

DENY CLAIMS U.S. LURING

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN WASHINGTON (AP) - Government officials today branded as absurd allegations by Britain's minister of science that the United States is conducting a high-pressure recruiting campaign to lure British scientists.

Ron Cochran Stars Nightly On Own Show

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

Circa Valentine's Day, 1963, Ron Cochran - latest of the bigtime television commentators to have a prime time network program wear his name - used some of the costly air to "issue a challenge to my friendly competitors. Walter Cronkite, David Brinkley and Chet Huntley.'

Though he's challenging them in more ways than this, his last month's "invitation" to his CBS and NBC counterparts referred specifically to one of those 50mile hikes that White House approval abruptly made as fashionable for adults as the "laundronaut" craze had earlier become for the college set. He followed up his telecast gauntlet with telegrams . . . a mighty wise procedure considering they're all on the air on their respective networks at pretty much the same

HAPPY IDES OF MARCH

Unlike Julius Caesar, Cochran finds the Ides of March just fine for on the 15th he rounds out his first year on the "new ABC News Staff."

Though he himself gets to the CITY AND COUNTRY to point out, It takes a lot of peo- cations.

Less than a year after Ron Cochran joined the ABC news-team he's been rewarded with "star billing." Early evening TV network reporters in television and radio. newscast has recently been retitled "Ron Cochran With the News." Except for four wartime years with the FBI, Cochrane has specialized in broadcast news since graduating from college.

Which pretty well answers a query put to 'Mr. Wizard" Don Herbert . . . "why do you change your junior assistants every few years?" You can hardly expect a 12-year old junior to stay that "junior" for 12 years!

Herbert's simplified but often dazzling experiments have a record of entertaining and educating adults as well as giving scientific insights to the children for whom it is intended. Herbert estimates he has performed more than 5,000 experiments since the show

Herbert, who is the producer as well as the star, has covered such wide ranging categories as blood circulation, static electricity and space travel without ever deviating from his own rule not to use any equipment not normalfound in the average household. He is particularly gratified that the program has "launched more than one youngster on a career in science." The program is a public affairs presentation of NBC News.

TV Tidbits

"Houdini taught me a few tricks," says Edmond O'Brien who's seen these Saturdays starring as "Sam Benedict" on NBC. And he's not kidding! As a boy he lived across the street from the master of magic himself. O'Brien used his "Houdini-training" to put on little magic shows in the neighborhood and billed himself as "Neirbo the Great' (O'Brien spelled backwards.)

ALMOST HAMLET?

Comedian Milton Berle so liked in "Doyle Against the House" him up on it and once again he'll ic "Doyle" character will appear about a movie star whose relain a "cameo" role. Also starring tives are all G-men. "Everytime are Jackie Cooper, Joey Bishop, they write, it costs him another Edie Adams, David Janssen, Pat G. O'Brien, Jackie Coogan, Gary Crosby, Susan Oliver and Dewey

And while this is not the "same" Berle the public has so long been accustomed to, it will be the same Doyle." The same costume was tracked down and the same makeup man signed up.

"DEATH" SERIES ENDS

CBS-TV's four-part "series-within-a-series" ("Look Up and Live) will conclude with "Room for Death," described as an "allegorical drama about a man who has lost a close friend in an accident and asks why such a tragedy should occur." The man is played 13 Boomtown by Kevin McCarthy who puts his troubled questions "to a bottle of wine — symbol of man trying to forget; to two store dummies which represent philsophical acceptance of death; to a book of St. Augustine's - which represents the religious answer; to a spiritualist - who argues there is no such thing as death; and finally to a stranger, who explores the relation of death to God's

"Room for Death" is scheduled for 10:30 a.m., (EST) Sunday February 24.
